

Hamlet & Fields

CRAFTING COUNTRY BRAND STORIES

A FREE FIELD GUIDE

The Field Guide Starter

*Your business already has a story.
You might just be too close to see it.*

Give it fifteen minutes and you'll walk away with five stories worth telling, a job for each one, and a post ready to publish this week.

WHAT YOU'LL GET

Fifteen minutes. Three things.

01

FIVE STORIES

Pulled from the work you already did this week. Nothing invented, nothing fancy.

02

A JOB FOR EACH ONE

Every story teaches, shows, proves or belongs. That's your content system started.

03

ONE POST, PUBLISHED

A simple way to put your best story to work where your customers actually look.

You do not need to become a content creator. This is about noticing what's already there.

Why bother? Because your online presence helps people decide.

Before anyone rings, visits or buys, they quietly ask four questions:

Can I find you?

Do I understand you?

Do I trust you?

Are you for me?

Your online presence is part of your reputation.

If you've ever caught yourself thinking...

"Nothing interesting happened today."

Yes it did. You answered questions, fixed problems and made calls nobody saw. That's the interesting part.

"I need to post something."

That's starting at the wrong end. Start with what your customer wants to know, then work back to the post.

"I've already talked about that."

Once. Most people never saw it, and the ones who did have forgotten. Saying it again is how you get known for it.

THE QUICK WIN · GRAB A PEN

Start with what happened today.

Don't brainstorm. Just answer five questions about an ordinary day in your business.

What did a customer ask me?

What did I explain?

What problem did we solve?

What did we do that customers would not normally see?

What do I know now that I did not know five years ago?

Boom. There are your first five stories.

Your boring is somebody else's fascinating.

What feels ordinary to you can be genuinely useful or interesting to someone who does not do your job every day.

GIVE IT A JOB

Teach. Show. Prove. Belong.

Every story your business tells can do one of four jobs.

TEACH

T

Something your customer needs to understand.

SHOW

S

The work, people, process, place or progress.

PROVE

P

Results, experience, reviews, before and after.
Evidence.

BELONG

B

The people, community, values and place behind the business.

Now put your five stories to work.

Next to each story from the previous page, circle the letter of the job it does best.

Story one

T S P B

Story two

T S P B

Story three

T S P B

Story four

T S P B

Story five

T S P B

Notice which letters you circled most. That's the start of your own content system.

PUT IT TO WORK

Pick one story. Publish it this week.

- 01 Choose one of your five stories.
- 02 Capture one real photo or short video.
- 03 Give it a reason to stop someone.
- 04 Explain the story simply.
- 05 Publish it where your customer spends time.
- 06 Repeat next week.

REASONS TO STOP SOMEONE

"Most people assume..."

"Here's why we don't..."

"A customer asked us..."

"This looks ordinary. It isn't."

LET AI DO THE BORING BITS

- organise ideas and rename files
- turn voice notes into drafts
- repurpose one story into other formats
- help with repetitive admin

Give AI the story. Don't ask it to invent yours.

Choose a pace you can actually maintain. If two useful posts a week is realistic, start there. If five is realistic, do five. The point is not to chase a magic number. The point is to become reliably present.

WHERE NEXT?

That was the starter.

The full picture covers who you're talking to, what you want to be known for, where to show up, and how to make one story travel further. That's the work we do next, together or at your own pace.

LEARN THE SYSTEM

The Field Guides

Five practical guides. Work through them yourself, in your own time.

FIND YOUR GAPS

Growth Audit

A clear look at what's working online, what isn't, and what to do first.

BUILD IT WITH ME

The Regional Edit

A season of strategy and hands-on help, side by side.

WHO'S BEHIND THIS

I'm Fee.

Founder and creative director of Hamlet & Fields, a regional brand studio working from the Central West to the Riverina. I spend my weeks on farms, in main street shops and at kitchen tables, helping regional businesses get found, understood and trusted online.

Everything in this starter is how I work with my own clients, just in miniature.

Fee x

Start the next chapter

hamletandfields.au

Crafting Country Brand Stories · Central West to the Riverina, NSW

